

October 20, Twenty-Second Sunday after Pentecost

Knowledge defines all we currently know and understand; imagination points to all we might yet discover and create. —

Albert Einstein